Discussion forum

We have created an online discussion space within Webassign for students to exchange comments and ask (and answer) questions about the course material or homework. You could also organize study groups. Please take advantage of this space to interact with your classmates, TA's and faculty.

You can access the discussion space from inside your Webassign account: log in there, and then click on the link "Communication" at the top of the page. The name of the discussion space is "Math 231 BC 2011 Online Forum".

Posts to the forum are grouped according to topic. So if you are responding to a previous post or continuing the discussion of a particular topic, please use the "New Post" link. If you are starting a new topic, use the "New Topic" link on the main webpage of the discussion forum.