Can websites be maintained after an owner leaves the University of Illinois?

Websites must have a current member of the University of Illinois as an owner.

Ownership can be transferred from the departing person to a currently affiliated person or group of currently affiliated people.

If the website owner has left Illinois and there are no other currently affiliated website maintainers, the site will be removed.